Reflections of Life

*Who can find a virtuous woman?
For her price is far above rubies...
Give her of the fruit of her hands; and
Let her own works praise her in the Gates.*
Proverbs 31: 10 & 31

Marsenia Lambert peacefully made her transition to join her Heavenly Father early Saturday morning, April 16, 2011 while the dew was still on the roses.

She was born on August 24, 1927 in Marion, South Carolina. Marsenia attended and graduated from the public schools in Centenary, South Carolina. Shortly after graduating, Marsenia migrated to Newark, NJ.

She was an active member in the church community. Marsenia loved to read, watch her soap operas and spend time with her family.

Marsenia was predeceased by her parents Gary and Lottie Davis and a son, Johnnie Waymond Lambert, Jr.

Marsenia leaves to cherish her memory: a loving and devoted son, John Henry "Preacher" Legette; three daughters, Geneva L. Bryson of Augusta, GA, Shirley L. Gause and Delores L. Brown of Marion, SC; five sisters, Bernice Howard of Washington, D.C., Julie (Henry) Miller and Jewell Walker of Newark, NJ, Ilene Legette of Maplewood, NJ and her devoted and caring sister, Earlene Rogers of Irvington, NJ; and a host of grandchildren, great grandchildren, nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

The Truth Is

The truth is there is no right or wrong way to say "farewell". There are not enough words in the dictionary to define our love for you. See, we are lost in this world without you. We were pampered by your loving ways and your gentle hands that guided us everyday. We knew that if you were near, we would be safe. Now the day has come and we must part. You were our sweet and graceful angel and you will forever remain in our hearts.

God bless you for all your thoughtfulness and concern.*
