Obituary

Larry “Kinano” Jackson was born and raised in the city of Newark to Leroy and Nebraska Jackson. The sixth and very special child out of eight. As a child he was nicknamed “Chachi” because of his independent, witty and fearless behavior.

Larry attended the Newark Public Schools and graduated from Central High School. Later many knew him as “Chat”. Larry loved to read and learn. He was very inquisitive about his environment and his immediate community, and he was a big jokester.

At the age of seventeen Larry followed his sister, Barbara and joined the committee for a Unified Newark Organization. By joining Larry helped change the city of Newark by helping get the first African American mayor elected.

Always progressing, he was named Kinano, which means flexible. He joined the Simba Wachunga (young Lions). Which was the security arm of the organization.

Later Larry was asked to join the Spirit House Movers, the Theatre Arts of the organization, which was created by Poet/Playwrite Imamu Amiri Baraka. This introduced Kinano to acting and to travel all over the country doing whatever it took for the cause also known as the Black Power Movement.

Larry, moved to New York City and then returned back to Newark. He became known to many as “Shotgun”. During this point in his life he met the late Barbara Hopper and created the joy and the love of his life his son the late Jihad Jackson.

In the early 1980’s Larry met the late Laler “Candi” Hayes. Out of that union they raised their son, Lewis “Blu” Hayes. Larry showed Lewis pure and unconditional love and was proud to call him his son.

In his latter years Larry became a Muslim and he embraced Christianity attending church every Sunday, because he knew God as one.

Although Larry had many names and meant many things to many people he was everything to his family and his family was everything to him. He tried to help and give back to the world with an open and kind heart.

To his siblings, Walter, Louise, Faquir, Barbara, Deborah and Michael. He was all those names but to us he was our beloved brother and we are so proud of his legacy. We will love and carry him in our hearts forever.

Thank you for choosing to live so many years of your life at home with us. Your sister, Barbara (Jinamiza), niece, Malkia, nephews, Chache and Moziah.

Miss Me But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
