Obituary

Lizzy Mae Jackson was born in Wetumpka, Alabama on August 5, 1932. She graduated from Carver High School in Montgomery, Alabama in 1950.

She relocated to New York in the early 1950's where she met and married her late husband, Clarence Brady.

One of the most important events in the life of Elizabeth Brady was being baptized as a Jehovah's Witness. She was a Faithful and committed member with a passion for going door to door to spread Jehovah's word. Although Elizabeth was ill, she continued to serve faithfully for over forty years.

Elizabeth was predeceased by her father: Emery Jackson, mother: Emma McCoy, step-father: Samuel McCoy, brother: Emery Jackson, sister: Geraldine Leonard.

She is survived by: her daughter, Glenda Jackson; grandson, Kevin (Sheila) Baker; great-grandson, Christopher Baker; brother, Willie Ray Shepard; nephews, Michael Leonard and Anthony (Vanessa) Leonard; niece, Deborah (Allen) Jeffries; special extended family, Phillip and Lois Rosen, Nicholas Guittari; and a host of family and friends.

With that I heard a loved voice from the throne say: Look! The tent of God is with mankind, and he will reside with them and they will be his people. And God himself will be with them. And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning, nor outcry, nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away.

Feel No guilt in Laughter, She'd Know How Much You Care

*Feel no guilt in laughter, she'd know how much you care.
Feel no sorrow in a smile that she is not here to share.
You cannot grieve forever; she would not want you to.
She'd hope that you could carry on the way you always do.
So, talk about the good times and the way you showed you cared,
The days you spent together, all the happiness you shared.
Let memories surround you, a word someone may say Will suddenly recapture a time, an hour, a day,
That brings her back as clearly as though she were still here,
And fills you with the feeling that she is always near.
For if you keep those moments, you will never be apart
And she will live forever locked safely within your heart.*
