Mable K. Moore-Glenn, was born December 22, 1916 to the late John and Mandy Moore in Cyrene, Georgia. She was the fifth youngest of eight children, Carey, Ruth, Aretha, Allen, Robert, Ollie and Preident.

Mable was educated in the Georgia Public School system.

In 1931, she met and married her husband the late Charlie James Glenn. To this union were three children born, Charlie James, Jr., Future Mae Glenn, and Isaac Glenn.

Mable was employed at Congress Luggage Company in Elizabeth, New Jersey. She was also employed at the Tarmac Canning Company in Newark, NJ.

Mable was a loveable and sweet person. She loved to cook and fed anyone that was hungry. She loved her family and enjoyed spending time with them. She was fondly known as "Nana".

She joined Abyssinian Baptist Church under the pastoral leadership of the Rev. Rufus P. Mean. She was a faithful member until her health began to fail her.

Mable will be truly missed. She leaves to cherish her memory: two children, Future and Isaac Glenn; one daughter-in-law, Anita of Newark, NJ; five grandchildren; great-grandchildren; twelve nieces; sixteen nephews; and a host of relatives and friends.
