

GRANDMA

*Though your smile is gone forever
And our face you can no longer see
There is no need to sigh
For God had called you on high
Even though you are in that distance land
No longer can we hold your hand
But one day we will walk beyond
The Golden Gates hand in hand*

GRANDMA

*We shall never lose the memory of you
The one whom we love so much
There shall be no room for sorrow
For God had his eyes on the sparrow
What would we give to see you smile
And talk with you for a while
Though our heart continues to cry*
GRANDMA, now resides with her father on high

GRANDMA

*It hurts me to see you lying down at rest
But God who knows all things best
Has called you home with him to rest*

From Your Grandchildren

Acknowledgement

Perhaps you sent a lovely card or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece If so, we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words as any friend could say.
Perhaps you were not there at all just thought of us on that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts, We Thank You, Whatever the part.

Obituary

Corean Brown, 90, was called home to be with her Lord Jesus Christ and passed away peacefully on March 3, 2014 in Livingston, New Jersey.

Corean was born on April 17, 1923, in Dillon, South Carolina and was born to the late Dewey and Leasise McRae. She was the oldest out of five siblings from this union. She was raised and educated in Dillon, South Carolina where she met and married the love of her life the late Julius Brown. Out of this marriage Corean had three children, Julius D. Brown, Sarah Woodson and Deleon Brown.

Corean and Julius Brown relocated to Newark, New Jersey with their family and during this time she held numerous jobs in her lifetime and was also a faithful wife and homemaker. She was an excellent seamstress and loved to sew all kinds of things including her own clothes, curtains and just about anything you would ask of her to sew. She also liked to knit as well in her spare time and attend senior activities at the Nellie Grier Senior Center in Newark, NJ.

Corean was a faithful member of Metropolitan Baptist Church where she would be there in her favorite seat, fashionable clothes and most importantly her stylish hats. She loved to dress and look good when she attended church or any other functions. She most especially loved to hear the choir sing her favorite church songs. She was always there to help out children and other family members whenever they needed her. During the warmer months you could see her sitting in her favorite chair outside on her porch enjoying the weather.

Corean Brown leaves to cherish her fond memories: her children, Julius D. Brown (Carolyn), Deleon Brown (Vernier) and Sarah Woodson; her only surviving sibling and brother, Robert McRae; her grandchildren, Sheri Brown, Gregory Brown, Robyn Woodson and Khalilah Woodson; seven great grandchildren; and a host of aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Dewey and Leasise McRae, her sisters and brother, Clara Bethea, Edward McRae and Evelyn Daniels and great grandson, Jahlil G. Brown.
