Obituary

Frances E. Grant was born April 5, 1945. She was the daughter of Elijah and Helen Grant from Walterboro, South Carolina. She was called to eternal rest on September 8, 2015 at New York–Presbyterian Hospital, New York, New York.

Frances attended Walterboro High School where she received her formal education. She began her journey to the Big Apple (New York) where she went to cosmetology school and later found her passion for children. After becoming a certified childcare provider, she started Children Are Our Future Day Care, where she worked until her last days.

Frances had a nurturing spirit, which lead her to start her own private daycare center for over 12 years. Each child and parent that walked through her door never wanted to leave. Everyone was considered family and never treated different. When Frances was not taking care of family and friends, she was cooking - especially during holidays. She was famous for baking her sweet potato pies – which we will all miss. The only thing that surpassed her love for cooking was her love for God. At an early age, Frances was grounded in the foundation of a relationship with God, and later on, her fellowship brought her to World Changers Church New York where she was an Intercessor and a Community Group Leader.

Preceding her death were her parents, oldest sister, Shirley Fields, brothers, Isaiah and Harry Grant and her son, Christopher Grant.

Frances leaves to cherish her memories: one brother, Anthony Grant, four sisters, Margie, Eliza, Vera, and Margret Grant and her sister in Christ, Mary Floyd. She has two daughters, Karen Grant, Kim Grant Powell; a son, Louis Blake and son-in-law, Wayne Powell; six grandchildren, Taneisha, Torren, Brianna, Quan, Ciente, Ciara; 3 great-grand children; and a host of nieces and nephews, other relatives and friends.

She will be greatly missed!

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
