Obituary

The journey of Myrna Cherubin began on August 14, 1952 in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. She was the daughter of Thomas and Meatrix Labbay, along with her elder brother Leonard.

The family relocated to Newark, NJ where Myrna attended and graduated from Barringer High School. While there, she met the love of her life, Joseph Cherubin. After attending her prom, their love blossomed, and they united in a life-long marriage. This union was later blessed with the birth of three sons, Donar, Elbert, and Bernier.

Myrna was known to be an intricate woman with many parts. She was a generous person, very charitable to anyone in need. She was stylish, in dress and manner, very refined. She loved her Parisian culture, loved to host parties and had an eclectic taste in music: from Nana Mouskouri's "Ave Maria" and Claude Valade's "Devant Dieu Je Promets" to Bob Marley's "Buffalo Soldier" and "No Woman No Cry" and even the rap song, "Parents Just Don't Understand" by Will Smith.

Myrna was a dedicated and passionate nurse who worked tirelessly for her patients. She always strived for excellence, pushing her boys to vigorously pursue their education so that they may achieve their highest potential, as they forge their path in life.

In 1999, Myrna and Joe moved the family to the quiet suburbs of Jackson, New Jersey. Here, she enjoyed decorating her home, gardening and communing with nature by taking long walks in the park.

Her life's journey ended on Thursday, April 21, 2016.

Those left to celebrate her life includes her loving husband Joseph; sons Donar, Elbert, and Bernier; grandson Sensei Pai Mei; brother Leonard, sister Jeanne Innocent; brother Olest Noel, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
