Obituary

Nathaniel Robert Williams, affectionately known as “Nate”, was born in Newark, NJ on March 31, 1964 to Arnold and Carolyn L. Williams.

He received his formal education in Newark Public Schools at Newark Technical School. After leaving Newark Tech, Nathaniel went to work for Comcast Cable Co. for several years. He then worked for several cable and construction companies.

Nathaniel was a naturally gifted carpenter. After helping his father with repairs, he decided to work as an independent contractor. Although he had health challenges throughout his life, Nate never hesitated to help others.

Nathaniel is preceded in death by his older brother, Arnold Vondel Williams.

He is survived by his parents, Arnold and Carolyn Williams; his sons, Nathaniel Robert Adams-Williams and Robert Vashon Dreher-Williams (now known as Julian Demarko); two grandchildren, Nyree Braylon Adams and Davion Charles Adams. He is also survived by his brother, Quinn Dewitt Williams and his wife, Loraine, his sister, Irene Williams-Toone and her husband, Jeff; his nieces, Quinnetta, Bridgette, Quinndolyn, Jahniesha, Asha and Yanice; nephews, Quinn II, Anthony and Kye; and a host of cousins, aunts, uncles, and friends that will deeply miss him.

*Many have traveled this road and gone to that distant shore
Where time is eternal and trouble is no more.*

*One day we must journey too,
To the place of peace and rest.*

*So while we live on this side of Gloryland, let us live our very best.
Sleep on my child, sleep on...we love you.*
