Obituary

This is the life's Journey of Horace R. McLeary otherwise known as 'Frass Roses'. Horace was born August 20, 1985 at University of the West Indies Hospital to parents Valrie Henry and Errol McLeary. He lived with his parents and sister Janease McLeary (second mom) in Mount James, St. Andrew Jamaica W.I. Horace migrated at a tender age to the United States of America. He lived with his father and stepmother Sandra McLeary and his brothers Akeem Junior McLeary, Kyle Charles and extended family members Harriette, Shian, Alexioa and Clayshon on 217th Street in the Bronx. Leaving his mother behind was sad for him, she gave birth to his sister Vanessa Shaw and they themselves migrated shortly to be with him.

Horace attended PS 78, he also went to Richard R. Green Middle School and graduated from Evander Childs Campus. He pursued a career in retail as a Stock Clerk. He lived with his sister Janease, brother-in-law Kani and his nephew Malik and niece Shantea at 221st Street. Everyone who knew Horace knew him to be humble, kind, caring, passionate, joyful, to have impeccable mannerism, to be a passionate dancer and very friendly. I would say he was a people's person. Through his journey he developed a special bond with his family, relatives and friends that surpassed the time that he had left on earth. He visited his relatives quite frequently; his grandmother Amy Watson, Uncle Rally, Uncle CuCus, Aunt Queeni, cousins Shawn, Nikki, and Jhalani. How can I forget about the Roses family that he was a part of: Mylez, Kevin, Desi, Chargie, JD, Storm, JunFrass, Marley, Brown, and Chunky to name a few.

I know you can't hear us but you left us with fond memories, memories that show your intellectual reasoning ability in a conversation and your problem solving skills, the jokes that are priceless and the dance moves.

Horace leaves to cherish these memories, his mother, father, sisters, brothers, niece, nephews and other relatives and friends. You put a smile on everyone's face. Sleep in peace.
