In Memory of You

Gloria Jane Campbell was born to the late Barbara Campbell on July 19, 1958 in Dillon, South Carolina. She was educated in the Newark Public School system.

Gloria was a devoted mother and grandmother to her family. Despite her ultimate sacrifice of withholding her aspirations to provide care for her loved one's, she loved each one of them unconditionally, regardless of their imperfections. Above all, she couldn't deny her love for the seafood cuisine; as long as there were a dozen of blue crabs for her to boil, she kept a smile on her face and raised above her tribulations.

Gloria uplifted the ambiance of every room she entered with her easy-going humor and kindhearted happiness. She was the life of the party who line danced and wiggled her hips to any type of music she heard, a tradition that she inherited from the Eastern Star gatherings with her mother. Those who loved her benefited from her selflessness and will always remember the sweet smile that radiated from her laughter.

A free-spirit, Gloria was a person that people naturally gravitated to because of her friendliness. She made an impression on every life she touched and will continuously be loved by her friends and family. May she Rest In Peace as God continues to bless her soul.

She was preceded in death by her mother Barabara Jane Clayton; grandparents Alfonso and Massie Campbell and her two brothers Clifton Lee Campbell and Terry Campbell.

She leaves to cherish her loving memories to her beautiful daughters Elaine Lamar-Campbell, Kisha Campbell, and Towanna Campbell; her four grandchildren Tarrell Campbell, Kareem Gatewood, Ci'Anee Campbell, and Ceon Perry; her sister Audrey Clayton; her stepfather Willie T. Clayton; her nieces Shakira, Jessica, and Saltiesha Clayton; a host of great nieces and a nephew; and her best friend Agnes Norman (aka Pee-Wee).

To the baby girl in me who just lost her Mother - cling to your Heavenly Father with all the strength you have left. He will hold you in the palm of His hand and protect you in the shadow of His wings. (Psalm 91). Keep your eyes fixed on Him and let the rest fall away. Each wave of grief passes through His hands first. Each tear you cry, He sees.

Father, I know I am not the only girl or child who is hurting over losing their Mother. And I know there will be moments it just won't seem fair or right that my Mother is gone. I don't understand all of Your ways, but I do believe they are higher than mine. I won't understand Your timing, but I believe it is perfect. It is difficult to see the good in this moment, but I believe that YOU are good. I pray for the little girl in me writing this; that You would cover me and my siblings, and family with Your wings and comfort us That you would give me more peace, more grace and hope and a sense of joy that can only be from You that my Mother is heaven bound. Thank You that you are good. Thank You that You bring light to the dark places in our hearts. Thank You that You can bring beauty from ashes and brokenness. We love You and we rest our hurting hearts at Your feet. In the strong name of Jesus I pray. Amen.

Peace and Blessings

your baby girl,
Towanna
