I FOUGHT A GOOD FIGHT AND I WON I FINISHED MY COURSE

I have come to the end of my Journey the sun has set for me so why cry for a soul that has been set free! God has crossed me on over to a resting place and one day I'll wake up and see my saviors face! An angel came for me and took me away, but if you live for Jesus I'll see you again one day I have no more sickness and no more pain I'm just waiting for my eternal gain. I lived my life preparing for this day so don't be upset that god has called me away. There is a time to be born and a time to leave and I went home with the one in whom I believe.
