Obituary

Glenn Harris was born in New York City on September 7, 1951 to his proud parents, Willie and Charlie Mae Harris. Glenn was raised in Martin Luther King and Drew Hamilton Houses with his sister Dolores. He received his elementary education at New York City Public School and attended Louis D. Brandeis High School.

Glenn met the love of his life, Sharon (who preceded him in death in 2007) as a teenager and they were inseparable from then on. Glenn and Sharon were married on May 27, 1972. From this union came two sons, Glenn Jermaine and Jason. Glenn was an amazing father and adored his family. One of his favorite hobbies was juicing up his sons' and nephew remote controlled race cars, racing them in tournaments where they often won first place. He was overjoyed to have his first grandson, Jason Anthony Harris II followed by his beautiful granddaughters, Malainy and Layla.

Glenn began his career with Farber Braid where he worked for over 30 years. Glenn was also the best handyman. You name it he could fix or build it.

Glenn leaves to cherish beautiful memories: his loving sons, Glenn Jermaine and Jason Harris; his daughter-in-law, Frances; his grandchildren, Jason II, Malainy and Layla; his affectionate sister, Dolores; sisters-in-law, Tobie and Kimberly; his loving nephews, Derek, Dawud, Latef, Akil, and Steven; loving nieces, Erica, Halima, Kenia, Unique, and Raquel; and a host of great nieces and nephews, cousins and friends.

“LOOK FOR ME IN RAINBOWS”

Time for me to go now, I won't say goodbye;
Look for me in rainbows, way up in the sky.
In the morning sunrise when all the world is new,
Just look for me and love me, as you know I loved you.
Time for me to leave you, I won't say goodbye;
Look for me in rainbows, high up in the sky.
In the evening sunset, when all the world is through,
Just look for me and love me, and I'll be close to you.
It won't be forever, the day will come and then,
My loving arms will hold you, when we meet again.
Time for us to part now, we won't say goodbye;
Look for me in rainbows, shining in the sky.
Every waking moment, and all your whole life through,
Just look for me and love me, as you know I loved you.
Just wish me to be near you, And I'll be there with you.

Music and lyrics: Conn Bernard (1990). Vicki Brown
